THE SCANDINAVIANS AND EDUCATION.

One of the hopeful signs of the times in connection with the educational law of the state is that the Scandinavians are well nigh solid for the law against which so many of the German Lutherans are working. The Norwegian papers are likewise for the law, so are nearly all the professors of that nationality in the prominent schools of learning. Some weeks ago the North, a Norwegian paper printed at Minneapolis, sent a circular letter in connection with a copy of the educational law of the state, to prominent Scandinavians including ministers, business men, farmers, professional men, requesting an answer to the following questions:

1. Are you in favor of compulsory education?
2. Do you approve of the Bennett law?
3. Do you find in that law any disposition to unduly meddle with the civil and religious liberties of the citizen?
4. Does the law prevent religious instruction in private schools?
5. Is it the duty of the state to provide for the education of the citizens in the English language?
6. Should foreign-born citizens try to perpetuate the national sentiment and the language of the nation to which by birth they belong?
7. If not, is it not the duty of foreign-born citizens to assist the state in its endeavor to familiarize their children with the language of the country, and thus to educate them into intelligent American citizens?

What was the result? In nearly all cases, the two first questions were answered in the affirmative, so also were the 5th and 7th. Voting heartily in the affirmative of the 21st, 24th and 7th question was Prof. Hjalmar H. Boyesen, the well known author and professor of Columbia college, New York.

A Lutheran minister, Mr. E. N. Anderson, of Sawyer in this state, writes: "I am a strong supporter of the Bennett law and shall with the help of God do all in my power to work for it. It looks to me that it will be an issue in the campaign next fall, but I hope we will carry the day. I do not see how a Lutheran with common sense can work against it."

In a few cases where objections were made they were clearly founded on a misunderstanding of the law, so far as Wisconsin to prominent Scandinavians republicans has bolted the educational law, and it is not likely that any will.

A HOPEFUL SIGN.

The Gazette has been requested to print in full some of the proceedings connected with the dedication of the Peddie Memorial Baptist church at Newark, New Jersey. The programme is too long for these columns, and besides that the matter is two weeks off.

But even at this distance of time from the dedication there are some points connected with it which are of special interest to christian people everywhere. The church is one of the finest in this country, and is the gift of love of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Peddie to the Baptists of Newark. It is worthy of note that when the dedication took place, which extended, as the pastor says, through "an octave of days," all denominational walls were broken down. There were no denominational ties shown on that great occasion. "Dr. Boyd, the pastor, is a Baptist, and the church is a Baptist church, but the services included representative men of different denominations. On successive evenings and by successive services the Baptist, the Congregational, the Presbyterian, the Reformed Dutch the Methodist, and the Episcopal churches were all represented, and all gave to the new church a right hand of fellowship, while on the Educational evening, so called, the platform was occupied by a distinguished Unitarian and a distinguished Jewish rabbi."

The dedication and celebration were significant. They showed how wonderful is the work of christian fellowship, and how strong the ties that bind the churches in christian love. This is a progressive spirit, one that carries the mind back to Judea nineteen hundred years ago. There is yet room for a little more of this kind of progression in christian fellowship. May the good work keep on.

Two of the greatest men in this country—James G. Blaine and Chas. McMillen—were spoken of as candidates for the presidency in 1892. When Mr. Blaine was interviewed the other day, he made the statement that Mr. Depew would make a strong candidate and an excellent president; and when Mr. Depew was seen he said:

"I am not a candidate for president," and Mr. Depew to a reporter:

"That is, you haven't come out yet?"

"I have not come out and I am not coming out."

"And Mr. Blaine?"

"I have been a friend of Mr. Blaine for the last twenty five years. I have voted for his nomination in every convention at which he was a candidate since 1876."

"Will he be a candidate next time?"

"He will be one of the most important factors in the republican party in making that nomination. I believe that his friends in all parts of the country will come very close to controlling the nomination."

The reporter ventured to say that some political experts had expressed the opinion that Mr. Blaine had grown strong by the split in the party in New York state.

public men on any continent. It is not a probable that he will run against Mr. Cleveland in '92.

The humbug of the democratic cry for reduction of taxes has been had a better exhibition than in the house of representatives on Tuesday, when the democratic members voted solidly against the sugar schedule of the ways and means committee. London Journal.

The democrats in congress never had a sber thought of honestly revising the tariff. They had the power, in connection with a few republicans, to do themselves some honor and the country a good service by voting down some of the provisions of the McKinley bill. But did they do it? Of course not. They don't want tariff reform. Every democrat in congress voted against free sugar. This shows a w empty and meaningless all the democratic boasts about tariff reform.

Nobody seems to know precisely what will be served by the new Watkin town in St. John's Wood, London, which is to out-Eiffel Eiffel. As the London atmosphere is ordinarily impenetrable to the naked eye for twice the height of any such structure, it is not likely to be of service as an observatory. Sir Edward Watkin, the projector, is the enterprising railroad manager who has talked about building a tunnel under the English Channel and a railroad up Oeder Idar. But both these schemes have so far come to naught.

What a delightful country Germany will be for a German to have anything to do with it! General von Capri's proposed measure to tax all native ineligible for army service and all German citizens living abroad should become a law. If he could only persuade the country to create a treaty authorizing the taxation of all German-Americans, the cup of the chancellor's ambition would probably be full.

On the ground of humanity, to put it no higher, the government should provide each of its census enumerators with a neat placard bearing the following legend printed on it in large and plain letters: "Don't shoot the enumerators; he is doing the best he can."

A New York paper has this item of news: "A suit has been brought against ex-Senator Sabin, of Wisconsin, for the recovery of the title to lands worth several million dollars." Ex Senator Sabin of Wisconsin! Well, that sound odd enough.

The breath of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulcers form on the tongue and the patient is attacked and frequently entirely destroyed by a constant source of discomfort is the drip of the purulent secretions into the throat, sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which in its turn has been the cause of pulmonary disease. LONDON POLICE THINK ANARCHISTS ARE AT WORK.

Threatening Letters Sent to the Prince of Wales—A Protest from New Foundland.

LONDON, May 27.—The police think they have reason to believe that the Anarchists and agitators have been arranging for more explosions in London. Several suspicious Americans now staying here are being closely watched and additional precautions are being taken in guarding public buildings, especially the Houses of Parliament. Lord Salisbury is followed everywhere by detectives, and many threatening letters have been received at Hatfield, his country seat. Saturday a note tied to a stone was found in the courtyard of Marlborough house addressed to its occupant, the Prince of Wales. The note contained these words: "Give us time if you would resign," and was signed "Thousands of Starving Englishmen." This communication was promptly suppressed and the police profess ignorance of its reception. It is, however, generally believed here that the coming summer will witness serious developments.

NEWFOUNDLAND PROTESTS.

Will Not Submit to Be Deported by the French.

LONDON, May 27.—Lord Knutsford, colonial secretary, has received an address to the Queen composed of angry terms from the Newfoundland Legislature. The address protests against the aggression of the French, declines to submit to the arbitration of the lobster dispute, demands the removal of all lobster-curing establishments, the stoppage of all fishing privileges and the abolition of all bounties. If the government refuses to accede to these demands the address threatens that the Newfoundland authorities will apply measures of their own to obtain the redress sought.

POLICEMEN MAY STRIKE.

London "Bobbies" Want Increased Pay and Reduction of Hours.

Their manifesto has appeared setting forth their demands, complaining of the authorities for ignoring them, and calling upon policemen to combine for a general strike should the government refuse to consider their just claims.

TO BETTER LABOR.

The Congressional Commission on Immigration Meets in Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 27.—The Congressional sub-committee on immigration met in the postoffice inspector's room in the government building. Owing to the detention of the Senatorial end of the commission by the consideration of the tariff bill now before the Senate, the only members of the committee at this session were the Hon. W. D. Owen of Indiana, chairman, and Representatives Herman Stamp of Maryland, Herman Litchbach of New Jersey, and Mark S. Brewer of Michigan.

The first witness summoned was Henry P. Lloyd, who has given much study to the particular phase of the labor question now under investigation by the committee, and Mr. Lloyd informed the commission of the result of his observations in the labor field, especially with reference to the conditions of the working population in the coal mines and the effect of immigration on this class of labor.

Following Mr. Lloyd was the testimony of Immigration Agents A. J. Lester and George Stinch, who have been in Chicago for some time investigating alleged violations of the alien contract labor law by the Carpenters' and Builders' association in the matter of importing carpenters to take the places of the strikers.

WILL HAVE A PALACE.

The Vanderbilts Preparing to Build One Near Asheville, N. C.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., May 27.—George Vanderbilt, his mother, and a party of friends have been here recently looking over "Biltmore," a 5,000 acre estate on which Mr. Vanderbilt intends to build a palace, from plans drawn by Richard M. Hunt. The entire cost of the buildings and improvements will be $5,000,000. A railway has been constructed from the main line of the Western North Carolina railroad to the Vanderbilt grounds at a cost of $10,000.

The machinery for making brick and tiles is ordered and 25,000 brick can be made daily. A large rock quarry is to be opened and much of the material needed for the construction of the buildings is to be taken from the grounds.

ANOTHER HOPE FOR KEMMLER.

The Solitary Confinement Clause of the New York Law Attacked.

NEW YORK, May 27.—A motion made in Judge Martine's court is the beginning of another attack upon the electrical execution law. The motion may still further prolong the execution of Kemmler, the murderer who has been convicted since. It was made by attorneys for James G. Slocum, convicted of wife murder, and the point of solitary confinement is the one attacked. The new law requiring death by electricity made it obligatory upon the authorities to place the prisoner in solitary confinement. In the State prison of the district, within ten days after his sentence, and required his execution within a specified week not less than four nor more than eight weeks thereafter. The motion now is for time to open the question of the constitutionality of the solitary confinement clause of the present law. It will also be argued that the present law does not give fixed powers to the execution as to amount of electricity necessary to kill, and hence is an unconstitutional experiment.

KILLED BY AN ELEPHANT.

Particulars of the Death of F. L. James, African Traveler and Author.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The Tribune prints an interesting article relative to the death of Frank L. James, a well-known African traveler and author and a half-brother of D. Willis James of the firm of Phelps, Dodge & Co. of this city, who was killed near the Gaboon river in Africa April 21 by a wounded elephant. Mr. James' body was placed in front by the tusk of the enraged animal. The wounded man knew that he was dying, but the shock to his system prevented him from feeling any pain, and almost dulled his senses. He lived on for forty minutes after receiving the fatal wound. The accident happened by a strange fatality on his birthday.

GOV. GORDON'S BOMB.

Georgia Politics Shaken by His Indorsement of the Farmers' Alliance.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 27.—Gov. Gordon has created a general hubbub in Georgia politics by coming out squarely in an indorsement of the Farmers' Alliance. He writes a long letter to the official paper of the alliance, in which he declares that the farmers owe it to themselves and their interests to organize politically as well as otherwise. The present strength of the organization means a cherished hope of fifteen years' standing.

Farmers: you must unite and help down these gigantic trusts and monopolies. We have prizes for binding twine. E. G. GUND, Secretary.

The engineer who started many people this morning between three and four o'clock by sounding a fire alarm on his steam whistle as he was leaving the city via the "cut-off," ought to be presented a chromo. Some of the fire boys go even harder on him, and say they would like to have a chance "to turn the hose on him." He was a dandy, to blow his whistle for the fun of it.

The St. Paul's System - Northwestern Survivors - The Pile Driver at Work.

JUDGE PATTERSON STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS TO-DAY.
 The Temperance Lecture - Memorial Day.

The Fire Last Night at the Morocco Factory - The Temperance Lecture - Memorial Day.

Most of the section men who were brought to the city Sunday night and Monday to work on the side track, by the C. M. & St. P. Ry. Co. were returned last night, and new all the signs of progress to be seen in the continued work of the pile driver building the bridge.

It is stated on good authority that the work will proceed to a rapid completion.

The chief engineer of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad Company arrived in the city last night and was today shown about the city and the grounds of the Hanson Furniture Co. by Secretary Alex. Graham.

It is rumored that in a few days the Northwestern Company will have surveyors here to lay out a system of side tracks. Whether the system will extend beyond the Hanson factory is not definitely known at the present time. Suffice it to say that one of the C. & N. W. officials informed a Gazette reporter that some tracks would be built by that company.

COUNTING THE PEOPLE.
 Some of the inquiries to be made by the Census Enumerators in June.

The eleventh census of the United States will be taken during the month of June. The census enumerators will begin their work on Monday, June 2, and will visit every house and ask questions concerning every person and every family in the United States. The questions that will be asked call for the name of every person residing in the United States on the first day of June, with their sex and age, and whether white, black, mulatto, quadroon, octoon, or Chinese, Japanese, or Indian. Inquiry will be made also of every person as to whether they are single, married, widowed, or divorced, and, if married, whether married during the census year.

The place of birth of each person, and the place of birth of the father and mother of each person, will also be called for, as well as a statement as to the profession, trade, or occupation followed and the number of months unemployed during the census year. For all persons ten years of age or over a return must be made by the enumerator as to the number able to read and write, and also the number who can speak English. For those who cannot speak English the particular language or dialect spoken by them will be ascertained. For children of school age, also, the number of months they attended school will be recorded by the census enumerators. In the case of mothers an inquiry will be made as to the number of children they have had, and the number of these children living at the present time. This inquiry is to be made of all women who are or have been married, including all who are widowed or have been divorced. Foreign born males of adult age, that is, 21 years of age or over, will be asked as to the number of years they have been in the United States, and whether they are naturalized or have taken out naturalization papers. Of the head of each family visited the question will be asked as to the number of persons in the family, and whether his home is owned or lived; also, if owned, whether the home is free from mortgage incumbrance. If the head of the family is a farmer, similar inquiries will be made concerning the ownership of the farm. In addition to these inquiries, all of which are made on the population schedule, the law under which the census is taken makes provision for special inquiries concerning such of the population as may be mentally or physically defective in any respect, that is, insane, feeble-minded, deaf, blind or crippled, or who may be temporarily disabled by sickness, disease, or accident at the time of the enumerator's visit. Certain special inquiries will also be made concerning inmates of prisons and reformatories and of charitable and benevolent institutions. Besides this, a statement will be called for concerning all persons who have died during the census year, giving their name, age, sex, occupation, and cause of death.

This official count of the people comes but once in ten years, and every family and every person should consider it to be their duty to answer questions of the census enumerators willingly and promptly, so that definite and accurate information may be gained concerning the 65,000,000 people living within the bounds of this great country.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.
 Delivered by the Rev. E. O. Taylor, of Milwaukee, at the Court Street M. E. Church last night.

A good sized audience were present at the Sunday school rooms of the Court Street M. E. church last night, to hear the Rev. E. O. Taylor, of Milwaukee, speak on "Scientific Temperance." Mr. Taylor is one of the regular lecturers of the Independent Order of Good Templars, and is one of the eight who have their salary and expenses paid by the order.

He made a number of experiments to show the amount of alcohol in a glass of cider, beer, etc., that were decidedly interesting. Enough alcohol was distilled from a glass of cider to burn on a plate for some time. His talk was very interesting, and he is a very pleasant speaker.

To-night he will lecture on the "physiological effects of alcohol on the body." The lecture will be illustrated by means of charts and diagrams. Taylor will show by the use of a powerful microscope the effects of alcohol on the blood. All should attend the lecture to-night.

HOW TO TEACH HISTORY.

A Paper Read by Miss Carrie Zeininger, Assistant Teacher in the Janesville High School.

BEFORE THE ROCK COUNTY TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.
 At Their Semi-Annual Meeting in the High School Building, Janesville, May 23-4, 1890.

The following paper on "How to Teach History," was read by Miss Carrie Zeininger, of this city, at the recent meeting of the County Teachers' Association in this city. Competent critics and teachers pronounce it one of the best papers on the subject ever read before the association, and a number have expressed a wish that it appear in print. The Gazette herewith presents the paper in full:

"How to teach history" is a question which interests teachers of all grades from the primary school to the college, to see that all names are correctly pronounced, that all the places mentioned are located; that the true meaning and relative importance of all facts are understood; that every lesson teaches the topics of special importance. Let these be subjects of the most thorough research possible. Direct the pupil to other sources of information. Collect as many sources as possible and give them all of those sources. Let the pupil consult, designating chapters and pages. Hold them responsible for this study. General directions are vague and seldom influence those you most wish to reach. As a teacher, select your material original thought and give your interest to investigation. In the recitation test not only the amount of information that has been acquired but ascertain the degree of clearness and of intelligence with which it has been comprehended. When a topic is named the pupil should be able to tell in his own language with as little interruption as possible, what he has learned from his own book and from other sources. After he has finished, correct any wrong statement, ask questions to bring out more clearly obscure points. Too much importance can hardly be given to geography in this study. Geography and history should be constantly associated, otherwise the facts will be vague and will soon slip from the memory. It is impossible to study history intelligently without bringing to distinctly before the mind's eye the place relations of the scenes in which these events occurred. But do not be satisfied with the mere location of places. Study the physical features of the country should be studied in connection with its history. They have modified the founding of its colonies and its growth. The development of its natural resources, its wars, its institutions, its social relations and institutions. A skillful treatment of this subject will give the pupil a new light by which to see that the world is not a mere collection of facts, but a living organism. Some one has said, teaching chronology is not teaching history. I agree and disagree with the statement. The person who can give the exact date of the battle of Saratoga but has no further knowledge of the event, has little to boast of. On the other hand a knowledge of dates is important because of the numerous dates which constantly occur in the study of history. It is necessary to determine the agencies that produced an event.

In the history of our country I would not say that the dates are not important. They are the most important dates learned in connection with the study of the events. But they should be thoroughly learned with strict accuracy and should be constantly reviewed. Less important events will naturally group themselves about those, some leading to each as cause events, others leading from each as effect events. Do not neglect to make prominent the progress of the nation in the arts and sciences, in inventions and discoveries, in the growth of population and territory, and in the development of its natural resources. History is more than a record of wars and political strife. "Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war."
